©CIM 1233 ✓ A DAM CATASTROPHE

By C. L. Chester in cooperation with Outling ✓

The first part of this picture shows beavers at work building their dams. The last part shows Mary and John who have decided for the simple life. John goes off to a rocky ledge to fish, but comes back empty-handed, and Mary is mighty glad she knows how to open cans. Later, John fells some trees, builds a raft, and he and Mary go off down the river. Everything is fine until suddenly the raft overturns and then John is forced to carry Mary on his back to safety.
